my dad passed away 7 years ago. He was VERY DEAR to me, and his death was very sudden. I found some old pics of him and they showed his happiness and his smile perfectly. I wanted to enlarge his photo, frame it, and have it on an easel at my wedding. It was my way of making sure he was there. NOBODY would do it for me because the photo was stamped with the photographers company name (but they were out of business). The funny thing is my dad was in his mid twenties in those pics...he died when he was 42. those pics. were at least 20 years old...and still, nobody would help me out. I tried for months to track the photographer down with no luck, so I could not have my pic. of my dad at my wedding. very disheartening.
