

Williamson-Brian-20050228123003

To: Julie L. Sigall
Associate Register for Policy & International Affairs

Date: 02/28/2005

From: Brian Williamson

Comment:

With the internet carrying such a vast number of images these days, this type of problem has become wide-spread and frustrating. It seems to me that a new national system that would be easy to access and submit work using a simple numbering system is needed - beyond the library of congress - easier and more accessible than that but without the heavy handed handling fees associated with image houses such as Corbis and Getty.