

Moore-Robert-20050314063003

To: Julie L. Sigal
Associate Register for Policy & International Affairs

Date: 03/14/2005

From: Robert Moore

Comment:

If a work has been "abandoned" to the point that the original copyright owner cannot be found or contacted within reasonable means, then I believe the copyrighted item should be placed into the public domain. The copyright holder should be mentioned, and a brief message stating that the item is an "orphaned" item should accompany the new work.