Comment:

There are literal TONS of wonderful out of print materials "out there", that could be enjoyed by new audiences, and utilized by authors and researchers.

It's expensive and difficult if not impossible to secure rights by tracking the original copyright holders. I'd be happy to secure limited usage rights if possible, but if not, lets make these images and written materials legal to use and reprint.

In an era full of super fast paced activity, violence and filth, to be able to share printed material from a more innocent time would be a true gift to the world.

Thank You, Judy M Johnson
